++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
A clear cooler night. Sunny spells tomorrow. A few showers.

This Evening and Tonight:
Scattered showers will fade as we move into the night, giving a clear night for most across the region. Still a possible isolated shower. Patchy cloud will lead to rather chilly conditions, particularly within clearer areas. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Wednesday:
A fine start for many with plenty of sunny spells, feeling warm in the sunshine. Scattered showers and increased cloud cover expected from late morning. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Turning more unsettled on Thursday, Friday and into the weekend with persistent heavy showers pushing eastward across the region, possibly locally thundery. Feeling cooler and rather blustery at times.
